Mr. R. Whelan was a Hanna visitor on Tuesday.

Miss Annie Forgie of Gleichen visited for the past two weeks at her parents home Mr. and Mrs. W. Forgie, of kinmundy district.

A number of Mr. Jas. Rennie's friends motored on Sunday to visit with him at the Hanna hospital. It is hoped Mr. Rennie will soon be able to leave the hospital.

Mother's Day was fittingly commemorated in the United Church on Sunday afternoon when a joint service was held in connection with the Church and Sunday School. A special mother's day service was delivered by the pastor Rev. J. Woolat along the line of paying honor and tribute to "Mother," which was appreciated by those present.

Two readings were given, Joyce Milligan and Cathleen Proudfoot.

The Advance

Drouth Cutting Two Million Bushels Per Day Out of S. Crops

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The worst spring drouth in 40 years was said tonight by United States department of agriculture officials to have whittled another 19,500,000 bushels of wheat from their May 1 crop estimate. This would cut Friday's estimate of 461,900,000 bushels for the winter wheat crop to 441,900,000 bushels.

While officials figured that the continued dry weather was trimming almost 2,000,000 bushels a day from the wheat crop that might be expected, clouds of dust, stirred by wind across the dry lands of the prairie states began to settle over the eastern seaboard.

The farm administration took first official cognizance of the seriousness of the situation today when it advanced from May 10 to May 16, the date for farmers to sign wheat production control contracts which will bring them payments for reducing acreage enforced by the drouth.

Weed Experts Make Report on Sow Thistle

The manner which Sow Thistle reduces grain yields is shown in figures produced in a booklet dealing with latest methods of control and eradication of this weed just compiled by Dr. G. P. McRostie, Professor of Agronomy and W. Tildsley, M.Sc. Assistant on Weed Research, of the Agricultural College of the University of Manitoba. The survey was conducted over a period of three years under the direction of, and financed by, the Northwest Grain Dealers' Association. Booklets dealing with this weed are being distributed this week at all line elevators.

The booklet deals with the plant; distribution in the west; origin of the weed; methods of spreading through seed and root system; the manner of damage caused by Sow Thistle; tables showing the average reduction in yield of wheat plants growing at different distances from Sow Thistle plants; methods of control through cultivation; use of chemicals and growth of sweet clover in areas where it is not necessary to summer fallow to conserve moisture in combatting Sow Thistle growth.

Farmers who are troubled with this weed and those who wish to keep their fields free from infestation are advised to obtain this booklet which is now available free of cost at all line country elevators. Booklets were recently issued by the Northwest Grain Dealers' Association dealing with Couch Grass control and the loss brought about by weeds in farm areas of the West.

In Tuesday's issue of the Calgary Herald, amongst the University awards prize lists, appears the name of Mr. W. S. Korek as being awarded a medal—the Ledley prize in chemistry. Mr. Korek taught for four years in Chinook, putting out in that time many excellent pupils. He taught for two years in Carstairs as principal of the High School there before going to the university last fall.

O. F. Dunford Former Druggist of Chinook Succumbs To Illness

Passing away at his family residence, 308 Thirty eighth avenue west, Oswald Frederick Dunford, 61 years of age, died after a lingering illness Thursday morning at Whitby, Ontario, England, the late Mr. Dunford came to Canada in 1909, and has been actively engaged as a druggist ever since.

Mr. Dunford was a well known pharmacist, holding diplomas of the British Pharmaceutical Association, the London School of Pharmacy, the Alberta Pharmaceutical Association and that of the North West Territories. Before coming to Canada he was engaged in business in a number of places in England.

Coming to Canada he worked for a short time with Wendall Macle, after which he took charge of the dispensing department for Dunlap at Stettler in 1910 he went to Munson, and opened a drug store there, being one of the pioneer druggists of that district.

In the fall of 1918 Mr. Dunford moved to Calgary, having purchased the business of A. A. Carmichael in the Herald building, where he has carried on business ever since, in later years in association with his son.

Mr. Dunford was well known to horse lovers throughout the province, and was a familiar figure at race meetings and livestock sales. He owned the celebrated Hackney "Sunrise," which he showed with success in his class with Broxton Gillette at Victoria Park. He was also successful with Clydesdales and Hackneys at Vancouver, as well as in Calgary.

The late Mr. Dunford is survived by his wife, and two children, Eleanor Margaret, and John Oswald Hugh in Calgary; and two sisters, Miss Gertrude Dunford and Mrs. Noel Fuller; a niece Margaret Elmer and a nephew, Henry, in the old country.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dean H. R. Rago at the Pro-Cathedral Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Dunford was the first druggist in Chinook, having operated the drug business here for two or three years before selling to Chas. Wylie now of Hanna.

Grasshoppers Hatching Out Fast at Parkland

PARKLAND, May 11.—(Special) grasshoppers are reported hatching by the thousands in the eastern part of this district. Early sown grains are now badly in need of moisture. The weather has been very dry and windy for the past three weeks, with only enough rain to settle the dust. Garden vegetables are doing fairly well, including early planted potatoes which are now up.

Japan Menaces World Peace

World opinion apparently is agreed that Japan is engaged in intensive preparations for war, primarily with Soviet Russia, and with hegemony of Asia and the Pacific as the direct objective. The evidences cited in support of that opinion are amenable to no other interpretation. There is no gain-saying the fact Japan has embarked on an imperialist policy strangely reminiscent of that which agitated pre-war Europe and which brought civilization to the verge of catastrophe.

Even the time has been set, it is claimed, by Japan's military experts. Armageddon will be let loose in the Orient late in 1935 or early in 1936. A world still struggling to escape the bitter aftermath of a Great War then, at no far distant date, will be faced with another which, unless due precautions are taken, may complete the havoc of the last. The chancelleries of the world, the House of Commons at Ottawa, economists and statesmen generally, are satisfied Japan is headed for war.

What are the evidences which have provided front page stories for newspapers, leading articles for editors and journalists, texts for sermons and subjects for radio lectures, and which point so unmistakably to war in the Far East?

Ever since its Shanghai and Manchurian adventures, Japan has been showing its hand, and has made it plain that establishment of a dummy kingdom, Manchukuo, under its puppet emperor, did not satisfy Japanese ambitions with respect to the Asiatic mainland. Withdrawal from the League of Nations was but a considered step in a pre-considered plan which envisaged war with Soviet Russia as a necessary preliminary to further imperialistic expansion. The recent ultimatum to the great powers designed to prevent financial or armament aid to China, is indicative of the fact that Japan proposes to exercise complete tutelage over that vast territory. The ultimatum, construed as a trans-Pacific "Monroe doctrine", directly affects Great Britain and the United States, both of which have far greater financial interests in China than has Japan.

Furthermore, Japan is arming at greater speed than any other country in the world. More than 40 per cent. of its budgetary expenditures are earmarked for armament purposes. The Japanese air force is among the most potent in the world. It is asserted the Japanese government is about to demand naval parity with Great Britain and the United States. So far as armaments are an arguement, therefore, they point to no far distant war.

What of the economic aspect of the situation, perhaps the most significant of all?

That Japan should have imperialistic ambitions is, of course, a direct sequel to its adoption of western "machine" civilization. The growth of its industrial plant and productive power has been accompanied by a rapid growth of population. In ten years, Japan's population has increased from 56,000,000 to 66,000,000. It presses upon the resources of the country. Strangely enough, it has reached the same point at which Germany felt the urge for "yellow room" at all or any cost.

The entire population of the Japanese islands has been enlisted in a gigantic effort to capture world markets. Systematic inflation of currency, ruthless exploitation of the masses, are component parts of the state's mechanism for development of export trade. Japan's exports have doubled themselves in three years. Against the flood of cheap Japanese goods, loosed upon world markets at "murderously low prices", tariff barriers have proved unavailing. Sixty per cent. of Japan's production is exported. Britain and Germany, even in the heyday of their foreign trade expansion, never exceeded 25 per cent.; the United States never has exported more than 10 or 12 per cent.

"Such a mass attack on world trade contains the seeds of its own destruction," says one writer who believes "the foundations will crumble beneath such excessive export trade maintained by the most fantastic exploitation of the native population. Through forced labor, child labor, sweat-shop conditions, generally, Japan is selling abroad at less than production costs—in Japan! The government is behind the productive machine and the export program. Because of its actions, capital equipment (convertible to war purposes) multiples, dividends are high, while workers slave and their families starve.

How long will it last? The "machine" is geared to run until Japan is ready for war. It would appear to be a race between preparedness on the one hand and national breakdown and insurrection on the other. War will be declared on first threat of the internal crash.

Thus international experts read the handwriting on the wall. Can the counter-movement for peace gain weight enough to prevent the catastrophe before Japan has reached the breaking point?

Removes Brain Tumor

Marvel Of Surgery Reported From Leningrad

Removal of a brain tumor from a young girl under local anaesthetic by Prof. Polenov at the Leningrad Institute of Traumatology was hailed as a marvel of surgery.

The tumor, the size of a pigeon's egg, was in the middle of the fourth ventricle, and threatened the patient with blindness. To obtain access, the surgeon had to displace the great hemispheres of the brain. The patient was apparently completely relieved.

Few precedents for this operation are cited in world medical annals.

All British army officers having the full rank of general are over 60 years old.

Unusual Use For Honey

As Foundation For Golf Balls It Is Excellent

The uses to which honey is put are many and various, but perhaps the most unusual is in making golf balls. The honey is placed in a round stout rubber sac and is forced in under tremendous pressure. Around this the usual rubber is wound and it has the ordinary outside. It is said that the honey being non-evaporative and virtually unaffected by time or temperature will give a ball that will stand up under all conditions.

Building Up Air Force

Purchase of 24 Sea King amphibian aeroplanes to cost $1,725,000 was announced by the minister of defence, shortly after announcement of construction of a heavy cruiser in Australia's program of increasing her defences in view of the uncertain situation in the far east.

A Tired, Worn Out Woman

Can't Make a Happy Home

There is no happiness in the home when the mother is sick and worried by the never ending household duties. She gets run down and becomes nervous and irritable, has shortness of breath, faint and dizzy, can't sleep, and gets up in the morning feeling as tired as she went to bed, and is downhearted and discouraged.

Milburn's H. & N. Pills will soon convince women it is not necessary to suffer, as they build up the nervous system and bring back the former health and vigor.

Search For New Worlds

Astronomers Looking For Planets Four Billion Miles Away

An intensive search by astronomers for more planets in the solar system, which are strongly suspected to exist far out near Pluto, nearly four billion miles from the earth, was announced by the American Philosophical Society. The new planet hunt, if successful, may add several more "worlds" to the nine now known to circle around the sun. Astronomers believe it is "not improbable" that several other earth-sized planets similar to Pluto may be circling unseen in space. Pluto is a lonely, forlorn step-child of the sun, more than 40 times as far from the sun as the earth, and so must be extremely cold and completely lifeless and desolate. It is 10,000 miles in diameter, somewhat larger than the earth, but weighs only half as much.

CRAWLING ABOUT WITH LUMBAGO

Here is some useful information for anyone troubled with that uncomfortable complaint, lumbago. A woman writes:

"For years I suffered from lumbago. During wet weather, I could only turn in bed with great effort and pain. I was so stiff and ached so much. Two years ago I had both lumbago and sciatica, and crawled about for a fortnight. I was so sorry for myself and looking 103 instead of 33. Someone said, 'Try Kruschen Salts', so I did, and I have taken them ever since, with the result that I hardly ever get a hint of lumbago these days." (Mrs.) G. P. C. Why is it that Kruschen is so effective in keeping lumbago at bay? Simply because it goes right down to the root of the trouble and removes the cause, which is an impure blood-stream. The six salts in Kruschen keep the bloodstream pure and vigorous by promoting a clockwork regularity of all the organs of elimination.

Famous Painting Found

Picture By Millais Passed Out Of Notice In 1875

After many years of search, Millais' famous picture, "No. 1," owned by the sister of the model. The picture which was the chief topic of the Royal Academy Exhibition of 1875, shows a young woman reading a letter in which she has refused a marriage proposal. The original artist was Miss Dorothy Tennant, who afterwards married Stanley, wife of Sir Henry M. Stanley, the explorer. It was once sold for $7,000. The recent buyer was Mrs. F. W. Myers, sister of the late Lady Stanley. She had been searching for it for years, but it passed out of notice when bought privately shortly after the 1875 Academy Exhibition.

Cars Easier To Control

If Accidents Occur Drivers Are Largely To Blame

Motor cars of to-day, while swifter of pace, are easier to control than they have ever been. Braking equipment and steering mechanisms have been perfected, tires provide a greater degree of safety, steels and alloys entering into the construction of engine and chassis are capable of withstanding greater strains. The fault then, it is clear, is that of the drivers of motor cars—those drivers, particularly, who, despite the convincing testimony of the casualty lists, will not recognize that the modern motor car, carelessly handled, is an engine of death and destruction.

Abbey Gets Milk Bath

Historic Westminster Abbey recently received a milk bath. Workmen applied gallon after gallon of skimmed milk to its massive arches, pillars and even its statues. The treatment, recommended by architectural expert, was intended not only to clean the stone work, but to aid in preserving it. The results will be watched with care, although it is said five years must elapse before the value of the treatment is apparent.

What Eating Costs

Here is something to worry about. If you only spend an average of 25 cents per meal during your lifetime, it costs you $19,250 to satisfy the "inner man." Average individuals eat 77,000 meals in a lifetime, according to statistics compiled by M. Davidson, who presided at a meeting of market and grocery owners, restaurant and hotel men, national refrigeration experts and city health authorities at Cincinnati recently.

"My husband wired me from Paris on my birthday asking whether he should buy me a Rembrandt or a Titian. Now, which would you have?"

"Well, as far as that goes, most of these French cars are very good."

Old London Growing Fast

Every Year 150,000 People Added To Big Metropolis

Figures have been quoted by American statisticians to show that within so many years New York will be a larger city than London. Presumably that means Greater New York and Greater London, because the working population of both cities is as the case with all large centers, is, owing to vastly better transport services, living in the outer rings of the business areas.

New York is still about a million and a half behind, and it is going to catch up on London it will have to go to London.

Lord Ashfield, the Englishman who once drove a street car in Detroit, and who is now the chairman of the London Passenger Transport Board, has to know exactly the traffic needs of Greater London. He told an audience the other day that London is attracting new industries at the rate of 1,000 per annum. London doesn't ask for them. They just want to locate in the midst of the largest assemblage of human beings in the world. By this means 750,000 people have been added to the population within the past decade, and there are 50,000 new houses built each year.

London is growing, therefore, at the rate of 150,000 persons a year—virtually another big city is joined onto London every twelve months.

At that rate plus the present million and a half advantage, New York is engaging in a hopeless chase if trying to overtake London.—ST. Thomas Times-Journal.

A Novel Clock

An amusing clock has been designed which at first sight resembles a picture of rather modernistic "flowers," a group of stems springing from the base, curve over slightly and sprays over the clock face so that the blossoming top each falls into the place usually occupied by the numerals. The clock hands are shaped like two slender leaves. This novel clock is said to be quite easy to read.

OFF COLOUR? HOW IS YOUR LIVER?

Wake up your Liver Bile

—Without Calomel

Your liver is a very small organ, but it certainly has a great deal to do with your health. It is the organ that filters out the poisons from your blood, and it is the organ that keeps your bile flowing. If your liver is not working properly, your bile will be thick and sticky, and it will not be able to filter out the poisons from your blood. This will result in a number of ailments, such as indigestion, constipation, and a general feeling of ill health. To keep your liver healthy, you should take a course of treatment with a liver-purifying medicine. This will help to keep your bile flowing freely, and it will help to filter out the poisons from your blood. This will result in a number of ailments, such as indigestion, constipation, and a general feeling of ill health.

Carters' Little Liver Pills will soon bring back the sunshine into your life. They're purely vegetable. Safe. Sure. Ask for them by name. Refuse substitutes. See at all drug stores.

Many Items Of Interest To The Western Farmer

Further tests in packing eggs for transit have corroborated the original observations that packing eggs broad end up is superior to placing them broad ends down.

Canada and the United States supply the entire wheat and flour requirements of Cuba. No wheat is grown in Cuba, nor is any flour milled on the island from imported wheat.

The common oak and the sessile oak dominated the primitive forests of Ireland, remnants of the sessile oak being found to-day in the ancient forest of Shillelagh and in Clatloe wood near Limerick.

The popularity of the Dutch onion, exported from Holland to the various countries of Europe, is due in no small measure to the efficient grading established by the Netherlands government.

In the proposed regulations of the new Fruit and Honey Act, 1934, three grades (Nos. 1, 2, and 3) are recommended for honey for export out of Canada or from the province in which the honey was produced into any other province.

In spite of the fact that China does produce great quantities of wheat and could produce more, it does not seem likely that her domestic supplies can compete under natural conditions with imported wheat.—Canadian Trade Commissioner in China.

Twelve inexpensive varieties of his recommended by the Horticultural Division of the Dominion Department of Agriculture for a small garden are Albert Victor, Alcazar, Flawescens, Kynsna, Lobegrin, Mrs. Alan Gray, Opera, Parc de Neuilly, Prosper Laugier, Quaker Lady, Sherwin Wright, and White Knight.

Based on official calculation of the per capita consumption of beef in England and Wales in 1929 at 70 pounds per annum, it has probably fallen below 65 pounds at the present time—the imports of Canadian cattle in 1933 gave the people of the United Kingdom a little over three days' supply of beef.

The lily of the valley is very well known as a florist's flower but is too seldom seen in gardens in Canada. It is not suitable for a mixed border, but as it will grow in shade, even under trees, there is generally some place where it can be planted.—Horticultural Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

When helping farmers to prevent outbreaks of insects in stored grain, officers of the Entomological Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture, have found the following insects in farmers' granaries—saw-tooth grain beetle, rust-red flour beetle, flat grain beetle, rust-red grain beetle, foreign grain beetle, rice or black weevil, granary weevil, cadelle, meal worms, powdery, milks, two-banded fungus beetle, and others.

The amount of Canadian honey exported has been increasing steadily from 1,747,871 pounds in 1929 to 2,808,770 pounds in 1933. Of the total exported in 1929, 1,213,229 pounds went to the United Kingdom, while in 1933, 2,213,899 pounds were sent to that market, indicating a growing market for Canadian honey in Great Britain.—The Agricultural Situation bulletin.

Nothing is definitely known as to the introduction of the potato into Canada. Discoveries describing the life of the Acadians in 1690, speaks of wheat, maple sugar, and fish, but makes no mention of potatoes. Benjamin Sulte, the Canadian historian, says that possibly potatoes were brought into Acadia by the Massachusetts troops in 1710. Pere Lafiteau, missionary near Montreal, writes that in 1715 that the Iroquois and other Canadian Indians ate potatoes.

Second 1613 Edition Has Been Found In Toronto

A 1613 Bible, possibly the second in existence in Toronto, came to light when it turned up for sale in a Bay street bookshop. The Upper Canada Bible Society has one 1613 Bible, and it was thought to be in Canada. It was found in the Order of Common Prayer, then the historic John Speed Biblical genealogy and map of the Holy Land and a series of woodcuts with explanatory texts. The owner can throw little light on the history of the book. It has been in his wife's family as long as family records can be traced.

Bananas And Skim Milk Latest Idea For Reducing

One more is added to the list of fad diets for reducing. This one, consisting of bananas and skim milk, is reported to have the recommendation of a physician connected with the Johns Hopkins University. Bridge table conversations doubtless may be depended on to spread the new skim-milk-banana gospel.

Both the banana and milk deprived of cream are acknowledged to be wholesome foods. But the fact remains that there is real danger in issuing for general application any prescription no matter how great the authority as endorsing it. What may be good for one person for accomplishing any particular change, may be positively harmful to another seeking the same result.

Those who want to reduce should not take the advice of a friend even if that advice is passed on from a physician's directions based upon a careful physical examination. The same physician might give entirely different advice to his patient's friend.

OCCASIONAL WIFE

By
EDNA ROBB WEBSTER
Author of "Joretta", "Lipstick Girl" Etc.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla, Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to inherit money when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of landing an agency job. Others in the story are Avis Werth, another wealthy girl who is trying to win Peter, Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom he has quarrelled. After a party at an exclusive club, when the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the gaiety, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Avis Werth rents a studio on the same floor as Peter, and invites him to have lunch there. He accepts reluctantly, but is favorably impressed with his visit. Camilla urges Peter to accept some of her earnings to help him along, but Peter refuses and they quarrel. After Camilla has gone from the studio, Avis Werth calls and persuades Peter to accept a loan of $1,000. Peter and Camilla are reconciled. Avis invites them to a party, at which she introduces Peter to well-known artists and public men.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XLIII.

Terry rebuked Camilla gently, when he danced with her. "Aren't you a little sorry for the way you deceived and then deserted us all? I'll never be the same again, since I lost you," he sighed.

He was probably as sincere as he could be about anything, but Camilla knew that he could not have been deeply affected. "Perhaps it is just as well you are changed," she taunted him, laughing. "Besides, I didn't desert the crowd just because I married Peter. It was all arranged that I should soon drop out of your life long before that."

"Not if you had listened to me. I've tried to persuade you to marry me for two years. What's this absurd thing I hear about your working?"

"I am, and it's not the least bit absurd. It's wonderful. I never was so happy in my life."

"But that's not fair, you taking care of yourself when you are married. What's a husband for?"

"Oh, I'm saving him for the future," she laughed. "It isn't that Peter can't take care of me," she defended him. "I just won't interfere with his work, now, when every day is so important to his career. Besides, I have my own ambition to work out and I don't want him to interfere with that, either."

"What is an ambition? Do tell me, because I should like to recognize one if I saw it. Is it a disease, and can it be cured?" Terry ridiculed. "Oh, I could tell you all about it, but you never would be able to recognize the symptoms. You should be ashamed of yourself, Terry Wayne, for being such a waster. Where do you suppose the money comes from that you spend?"

"Why, from the old man," he exclaimed, as guileless as a child discussing money. "Exactly. But did you never try to estimate what it represents of thought and effort, to provide you with so much?"

"Why should I bother about that? One person's thought and effort are enough to waste on it. What I think about these days is the fact that the governor has cut me about twenty per cent, and I can't convince him that my expenses are more instead of less."

"Everyone is trying to reconcile those two contradictory facts these days. Too bad for you that you don't have to earn your living for awhile."

"Say, what have you got against money?" I heard him because you have to toil, and want everyone else to break rocks. Must you be like that, because you have an ambition?"

"I just like you enough that I'd like to see you be a man, Terry."

He drew her closer in his embrace as they ended the dance. "And I like you well enough that I still want you."

"Don't be silly," she protested, and turned her attention to someone else. All her old friends were delighted to see her again, Camilla discovered. They chided her for her neglect of them, were curious about her work, doubted or admired her seriousness. She gave them no details concerning her position, only that she did ad copy for Weeks and Bowman. She did not wish Alexander Hoyt to discover at this crucial time that she held his fate at the point of her pencil.

The test would begin to prove itself soon. The first copy had gone out and was shown on the press, would appear in magazines all over the nation within the following week. Any upward trend of the Wheat heart Cereal business would manifest itself very soon if the juvenile public accepted her Tiny Tots with enthusiasm.

Both Weeks and Bowman were optimistic. "Of course," Mr. Bowman had conceded, "we can't expect enormous returns under present conditions. But if the idea catches on there is bound to be a decided improvement."

He was more generous with his praise than Mr. Weeks, chuckled over the exploits of father and mother money. "I heard that," she said, "and I'm not at all surprised. They're your friends and relatives. There were, among many others, Uncle Joe, the one-legged sailor, who told the children such fascinating tales; Aunt Min to whom all the children took their troubles, to be effaced with delectable Wheatheart Cereal cookies and muffins; old Grassy, the man who had been frightened the children from his wretched hut that lured them with its strange and fearful reports. They were so tiny that they slept in peanut shells and made a meal of one cereal flake, were delighted over a treat of a grain of sugar, made a palace of a cereal carton."

While Camilla worked at her sketches, she lived in a different world, alone. Even Peter never entered, except to poke his head into her thoughts and entice her away for a few moments at times. She lived her hours there with the children of her fancy and often felt them with genuine regret.

During those first weeks, she was so engrossed that she worked late at the office many times. She discovered that when the pleasant, spacious rooms became silent for the night, she accomplished more work with better results. It was even more satisfactory than working at the apartment, which she did sometimes, also. No conflicting thoughts or duties interrupted her, and she grew to appreciate more her wisdom in living apart from Peter so that he might work alone, also.

She was more concerned over the fact that Avis had come to live across the hall from Peter, than she admitted. Not so much because she was jealous of Avis' interest in Peter, but because she feared that her presence there would take from Peter just what she had sacrificed so much to provide for him, his privacy.

Fortunately, for her peace of mind, Peter never told her how many times Avis interrupted his work and insisted upon his relaxing for an hour in her company. These omissions in his confidences were not so intentional as they were natural. He had precious little time to discuss anything with Camilla in those days and, like all men, he did not realize himself how many hours he did pass in Avis' company. They were so casual and pleasant, conveniently interspersed with working hours, that he purposely arranged that he was scarcely aware that he saw more of Avis than he did his wife.

So, on the night of her reception, Avis took possession of Peter and ignored Camilla so casually that no one noticed or resented it. Everyone departed with glowing thanks for a marvelous evening, and vaguely impressed with the memory that Avis and Peter were their hostess and host. With Peter's studio across the hall and he a new tenant in the colony, also, it did not seem at all improbable.

Avis insisted that Camilla and Peter remain until the last guest had gone, then she turned her attention wholly upon Camilla. "I can't thank you enough for helping me so beautifully this evening, dear. It was too sweet of you, the way you got people together and helped to entertain them. Do stay with me for awhile, and while Tillie clears up the worst of the wreckage, we can have a bite together. I'm sure you didn't have time to eat—I know I didn't. But I think everyone did have a good time, don't you?" anxiously.

"No doubt about that," Camilla assured her with sincerity. "But I didn't do so much. I had a good time, myself."

"I'm so happy if you did. I'm afraid I rather neglected you, depending on you to help me as I did. It kept me pretty busy, telling everyone about Peter. Did you notice how popular he was?" she asked, pleased and impersonal.

"Oh, I say," Peter objected. "It was you who were popular, and they listened to what you said about me because you were talking."

"Isn't that just like him?" she asked Camilla with exasperation, as if they shared his idiosyncrasies with a common indulgence of them.

She passed glasses of punch and a plate of sandwiches.

"You will be sending me a board bill some day," Peter remarked carelessly, "if I don't quite eating over here."

Camilla looked up quickly.

Avis laughed. "He has the most exaggerated sense of obligation I ever met. Just because he eats a meal here and I make him stop work."

Kidney Troubles

long enough to drink a cup of coffee occasionally, he wants me to punch a meal ticket for him. Actually, Camilla, with working so hard to finish that figure, I believe he would starve if someone didn't tell him it was time to eat. And since you are not here to do it, I've taken it upon myself to watch over him a little. We don't want our prize winner to collapse at the last minute, do we?"

"Oh, you women!" Peter made a deprecating gesture. "You do like to baby us. That's because you don't know what it means to apply yourself to something that means more to you than your physical comfort."

Oh, didn't she, thought Camilla. But Peter was talking to Avis—not to her. Unconsciously, he had developed the habit of ending the evening there in Avis' rooms, eating a bite and discussing most everything with her.

"I am glad you take such good care of him," Camilla offered bravely, but she grudged Avis even one precious privilege of serving Peter.

"By the way," he changed the subject, "we haven't named the figure yet." Actually, he had only discussed the matter with Avis, but his comment included both girls.

Last Of His Race

Nobody Knows Origin Of Moriori Tribe

Tommy Solomon, the last pure-blooded Moriori of the Chatham Islands in the Pacific, 536 miles east of New Zealand, has died. Two food of good food, he grew to weigh 420 pounds, which was too much. The last woman of his race, Heta Namu, his aunt, passed away 10 years ago. Captain Frederick Pender, assistant marine superintendent of the international mercantile marine, said "one of the greatest authorities America ever had on sea serpents" was the late Captain Clausen of the magnetic ship Carnegie.

"He used to tell us by the hour," said Pender, "about seeing sea serpents. He told us once he saw one of them chase a school of whales round a Norwegian fjord until the water boiled with fury and villages miles inland were swept by the waves."

None of these seamen would admit ever having seen a serpent with his own eyes but all agreed that "what scientists need is a grain of faith in sea beasts—and a mile more of forbearance."

My brother has no house, no home, His food is crust of bread; Through bleakest weather he must roam, The roadside for his bed.

For this, I cannot eat my meals, Though we are set apart, I feel each pang my brother feels, His hunger rends my heart!

For hours upon my bed of down I toss, while night grows old, And watch my brother tramping down The highways, weak and cold.

For every being, warmth and food, This is earth's bounty meant. Until my brother shares all good, I cannot rest content.

Drive Against Lotteries

Revealing plans for a drive against Chinese lotteries, a type of gambling said to be sweeping Winnipeg, city police stated unemployed, in many cases, were wagering their relief vouchers in the hope of reaping a sudden fortune, rather than spend them for bread, milk and other necessary provisions.

Using Diving Bell
With the aid of a great diving bell, Dr. William Beebe plans to go 3,000 feet below the surface of the Atlantic near the Bermudas. He is carrying on the work solely for the purpose of making scientific observations of as large a number of deep sea creatures as is possible.

It's very embarrassing when one's wife is jealous, and very humiliating when she isn't.

About Sea Serpents

Old Mariners Deplore The Unbelief Of Scientists

If scientists possessed faith "the size of a grain of mustard seed," several seamen agreed, they would not scoff at sea serpents.

These salts, during a lively discussion on the mysteries of the deeps, declared the attitude adopted by scientists toward sea monsters had been "without imagination or emotion from the very start."

They chided by name Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, who said recently the Loch Ness monster probably was only a killer whale, and Dr. William Beebe, who thinks it may be merely a mechanical contraption.

"It's downright ungracious of these distinguished gentlemen," said Captain Thomas W. Sheridan, former superintendent of the New York nautical school, "to dispose of the dive denizen of Scotland in such a prosaic manner."

"Why, that sea serpent of Loch Ness has lived the news of the world now for nearly a year. We owe it a debt of gratitude."

"Dr. Andrews and Dr. Beebe," continued Captain Sheridan, "ought to remember the Shakespearean quotation: 'There are more things in heaven and earth Horatio than are dreamed of in your philosophy.'"

"And," said Captain Felix Risenberg, sea author, "they ought to remember too, that sea serpents have been earnestly and devoutly believed in by numbers of super-seamen of undoubted veracity since the beginning of time."

"Some of our best literature is about the seeing of these beasts."

Captain Frederick Pender, assistant marine superintendent of the international mercantile marine, said "one of the greatest authorities America ever had on sea serpents" was the late Captain Clausen of the magnetic ship Carnegie.

"He used to tell us by the hour," said Pender, "about seeing sea serpents. He told us once he saw one of them chase a school of whales round a Norwegian fjord until the water boiled with fury and villages miles inland were swept by the waves."

None of these seamen would admit ever having seen a serpent with his own eyes but all agreed that "what scientists need is a grain of faith in sea beasts—and a mile more of forbearance."

Little Helps For This Week

"If thou draw out thy soul to the hungry, and satisfy the afflicted soul, then shall thy light rise in obscurity and thy darkness be as the 'condancy' and the Lord shall guide thee continually." Isaiah 43:10-11.

If thou hast yesterday thy duty done,
And thereby cleared firm footing for today,
Whatever clouds make dark tomorrow's sun,
Thou shalt not miss thy solitary way.

O Lord who art our guide even unto death, grant us I pray Thee grace to follow Thee wheresoever Thou goest. In little daily duties which Thou hast called us, bow down our wills to simple obedience, patience under pain or provocation, strict truthfulness of word and manner, humility and kindness. In great acts of duty or perfection if Thou shouldst call us to them, uplift us to self-sacrifice, heroic courage, laying down of life for Thy Church's sake, or for a brother.—C. G. Rossetti.

Are You
WEARY?

Do you find it hard to do things some days? Do you find your body and brain feel oppressed? Complete elimination of body waste is probably the reason. It is most likely the reason for your weariness. It can be in your daily habits, because regularity is so good for the body. Eat moderately, sleep sufficiently, get lots of fresh air and exercise—and once or twice every week take a bottle of Andrew's Liver Salt. Andrew's will purify and invigorate your whole system and help Nature do these things. "Laxative" days. Get Andrew's Liver Salt from your druggist. 35c and 60c in tin. 75c for the large bottle. Collar Of Pure Gold

Valuable Antique Dating From About 700 B.C. Is Found In Ireland

A collar of pure gold which is believed to have been made about 700 B.C. has been found at Burren, County Clare, Ireland. Its discoverer was a local farmer who noticed it glittering in a cleft of rock. The National museum has claimed it as treasure trove. Dr. Maher, keeper of Irish antiquities in the national museum, has confirmed the belief of its antiquity. The type is well known, he said in an interview, and four similar ones are in the museum.

Ease Pain, Headache
in Few Minutes

For Quick Relief Say ASPIRIN—When You Buy

Now comes amazingly quick relief from headaches, rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia... the fastest safe relief, it is said, yet discovered.

These results are due to a scientific discovery by which an Aspirin Tablet begins to dissolve, or disintegrate, in the amazing space of two seconds after touching moisture. And hence to start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

The illustration of the glass, here, tells the story. An Aspirin Tablet starts to disintegrate almost instantly as you swallow it. And this is ready to go to work almost instantly.

When you buy, though, be on guard against substitutes. To be sure you get ASPIRIN's quick relief, be sure the name Bayer in the form of a cross is on every tablet of Aspirin.

Ladies Card Club

The Ladies Card Club met at the home of Mrs. Butts May 15. The honors for the evening went to Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Penne. Next week the club will meet with Mrs. Peyton.

Ladies Aid Meeting

The Ladies' Aid held their monthly meeting May 16 at the home of Mrs. McKenzie. The meeting was opened by reading the 24th Psalm and reciting the Lord's Prayer.

The financial report was given by the secretary regarding the recent apron sale and tea showing receipts of $21.15, which was held to be very satisfactory, particularly as the day was windy and dusty.

Mrs. Robinson and Lee were appointed caretakers for the church till next meeting.

The next meeting will be held in June at the home of Mrs. Shies. Members were asked to bring print patches to the next meeting to be used in making a Dresden plate or style quilt to be sold at the annual fall Bazaar.

Soft powder-blue, happy greens, rich browns, gold and navy, and ever-popular black are among spring colors; but the favorite of all, judging by smart shop windows, is navy blue. This flattering color is slated for a very strong come-back, and there is nothing more all-round beautiful and serviceable.
